ENERGY CONSERVATION TIPS

DOE

We can save on our energy consumption in both our homes and offices.

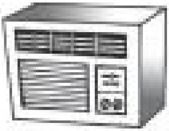
And here are the ways:

LIGHTS

Keep your fluorescent tubes clean from dirt and dust. Choose Compact Fluorescent lamp (CFL) over the regular bulbs and fluorescents. Have your fluorescent tube and starter changed regularly.

AIRCON

Choose to buy an air conditioner unit that bears the Energy Efficiency Factor (EEF) label. Consider the aircon's capacity relative to the size of the room where it will be installed. Maintain the cleanliness of the air filter. For optimum satisfaction, make sure that the room where the air-condition unit is installed does not have any leakages.



STOVE

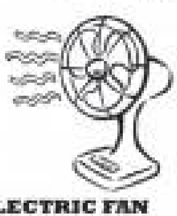
Stoves When buying a gas range or oven, choose the ones that has automatic ignition system. Prefer using Liquified Petroleum Gas (LPG) over electronic powered cooking machines. Develop a system of cooking.

REFRIGERATOR

Look for the Energy Efficiency Factor (EEF) label when you buy a refrigerator unit: the higher the EEF, the more efficient the unit is in terms of energy consumption. Avoid letting ice on the freezer reach thickness beyond ¼ inch. Always check the condition of the gasket. Maintain the cleanliness of the condenser coil.

IRON

Set a regular schedule for pressing clothes. It is better to iron clothes in the morning when the temperature is still cool. Start with clothes that are made of thick and heavy fabric, then press the thinner and lighter clothes last.



TELEVISION

Switch off and unplug your TV when not in use. Do not put your TV on stand-by mode as it still consumes energy. Using multiple television sets add up to your total energy consumption.

ELECTRIC FAN

Maximize the use of your electric fan by locking in the oscillator when only one person is using it. Regularly clean the fan blades for optimum functionality.

GARDEN OF MEMORIES MEMORIAL PARK & CHAPELS, INC.

The Garden of Memories Memorial Park & Chapels, Inc., would like to clarify that the company is not one of those pre-need plan companies whose license were revoked/terminated by the Insurance Commission.

In 2003, Garden of Memories Memorial Park & Life Plan, Inc. decided to voluntarily cancel its Permit to Sell pre-need life plans to be able to concentrate on its core value products and services which is memorial park and funeral/mortuary services.

The petition for voluntary cancellation of Registration Statement and Certificate of Permit to Sell was approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the government agency handling pre-need plan companies then) on October 2003. Thus, since that date, the Company has not been selling pre-need life plans. The SEC order also included the approval of the amendment of the company's corporate name, primary purposes and capitalization.

The company would like to stress that its trust fund is fully funded and highly liquid, and it can more than adequately service the claims of their plan holders for funeral services when the need arises.

A GUIDE TO SOME OF THE WORLD'S GREEN BUILDING ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT AND GREEN CERTIFICATION SYSTEM

LEED (US)

Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) was developed by the U.S. Green Building Council in 1998 and has been the mark of excellence in energy efficient and environmental friendly architecture. It provides an independent, third-party assessment that measures the developer's site sustainability, energy and resources efficiency, use of materials, location, design and the awareness of the people [illegible].

The points are awarded using a 100-point scale with ten bonus points. For a project to be awarded the LEED certification, it must achieve the minimum number of points [illegible]. A platinum certification requires 80 points, [illegible] for silver.

The LEED certification has a criteria for different projects, such as neighborhood development, commercial, retail interiors, schools, healthcare and other existing buildings.

LEED certified buildings include Taipei 101, the Hearst Tower and the Bank of America Tower in New York.

breeam

BREEAM (UK)

Established by United Kingdom's Building Research Establishment in 1990, the BRE Environmental Assessment Method (BREEAM) uses rating methods supported by evidence-based science and research. BREEAM not only scrutinizes a project's environmental viability but also [illegible]. BREEAM's Accredited Professionals help projects gain a certification.

It has since expanded into other nations under BRE International and has created country specific parameters to help [illegible]. In 2008, the BREEAM [illegible].

BREEAM certified buildings include the European Investment Bank headquarters in Luxembourg, the [illegible] building in London and [illegible].

GREEN STAR (AUSTRALIA)

Under the Green Building Council of Australia, the Green Star was conceived in 2003 to develop the sustainable construction industry in Australia. It also aims to integrate a more environmentally approach in building design and products into a mainstream setting.

The Green Star tools assess nine categories: management, energy, indoor environment quality, water, transport, land use and ecology, emissions, innovation, and materials.

The rating system includes a 6 Star for "World Leadership" quality, 5 Star for "Australian Excellence" and 4 Star for "Best in Practice."

Green Star certified buildings include The Gauge offices and the Council House 2 building in Australia.

Beyond the hour

[illegible]

Since its inception in 2007, Earth Hour has become the largest environmental campaign in history. In 2011, 135 countries participated in the sustainability movement featuring iconic landmarks like the Sydney Harbour Bridge, Paris Eiffel Tower, London's Big Ben, Toronto's CN Tower, and San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, giving up their dazzling lights for an hour for the planet.

In the Philippines, the campaign was met with great enthusiasm. [illegible]
